

Dr Yoshido

Dr Yoshido was born and raised in California. She Graduated medical school in 1983 from the American University of Caribbean, and completed her internship and residency with Georgetown University in Washington, DC.

Dr Yoshido trained and practiced at the Nevada Nuclear Test Site, and practiced rural medicine, participated in one of the countries first total service pain management centers in the mid-west, practiced medicine and trained para-medics and nurse practitioners, physician assistants in emergency and trauma medicine, practiced poison medicine in New Mexico, practiced medicine on native Hawaiian sugar plantations and on native American Indian Reservations and as a civilian military physician.

Dr Yoshido was contracted as a private physician for several wealthy families in Japan, Dubai and India. She was Medical Director of the University of Central Florida for many years and helped them establish accreditation with ACHA.

Competent and certified in non-surgical vascular surgery for treating internal hemorrhoids and varicose veins via laser and infrared therapies. Also certified in Holistic Medicine, EFT and certified in Medical Hypnotherapy. Participated in many medical mission projects with several organizations throughout South America and Mexico.